

Public Transport in Denmark

Journey Planner

With Rejseplanen (Journey Planner) it is possible to find out which trains and buses you need to take, and at what time to get to your destination. The Journey Planner covers all of Denmark.

On www.rejseplanen.dk you can plan your travel in English by choosing the british flag icon on the bottom of the page...

Trains

There are several railway companies in Denmark.

The biggest is owned by the Danish Ministry of Transport and is called DSB.

The DSB trains are divided by DSB, which operates in the whole country and DSB S-tog, which operates all suburban railservices in the greater Copenhagen area.

DSB Customer Centre

Another, quite big, train operator in Denmark is called Arriva. Arriva operates mainly in some of the middle and Western Jutland.

Beside from DSB and S-tog, Copenhagen also have a Metro that goes between Vanløse - Vestamager and Vanløse - Lergravsparken.

Metro

Apart from the above mentioned railway operators, there are several local railway operators.

Busses

There are a lot of different buscompanies operating all over Denmark. However, very few of them have an English website. The following are some of them that do.

In the city of Copenhagen and in the counties of Frederiksborg, Roskilde and Copenhagen, the busses are run by a buscompany called HUR.

The main buscompany on Funen is called Fynbus.

In the county of Viborg, the buscompany is called VAFT.

Between Jutland and Copenhagen is a buscompany called Abildskou A/S.

To take the bus abroad, it is possible to take Eurolines Scandinavia.
